Rock a bye, baby, my little sweet man,
Go to sleep, darling, as fast as you can;
For mother must hasten to don a new gown
And put in her vote for the good of the town.

Your mother's a voter; now, man child, be still,
And hush up your screaming, so piercing and shrill;
For be it known, man child, the time has come when
Your mother can vote with the mannest of men.

Now lie where I put you all safe in your bed,
And don't you dare wriggle a hand or a head,
While I go with my new silk and stylish capote,
Oh, man child, the rapture, to cast my first vote.

Mammy is a voter,
A voter proud is she,
And she will cast her ballot
With the foremost of the free,
And a brave and honest voter
Forever she will be!

LIMPY JIM.

The Leadville stage pulled out of Webster station one evening after supper with 12 "pilgrims" for the city in the clouds. Webster was the end of the track, and the route from there to the carbonate camp lay over the summit of Kenosha mountain, through the northern end of the South park and across the famous Red hill, a doubly significant title by reason of the color of the soil and the bloody murders committed there by the Mexican bandits, the Espinosos. From Red hill the road again enters the South park, passes through the old town of Fairplay, once boisterous with the gayety of pioneer gold diggers.

Red hill was the danger point on the first division of the road. Near the summit is a little basin, where the road is completely hidden from view on all sides. Little gulches lead up to this spot from the South park, affording every opportunity for road agents to reach the place unseen and to likewise make their escape. "Pilgrims" for Leadville usually were supplied with money, and a great deal of wealth originally intended for investment in the carbonate camp was turned over to gentlemanly persons who encountered the stage in the little basin on Red hill.

The individual who sat on the dusty old Concord coach and pulled the ribbons over six bronchos between Webster and Fairplay was known as Jim. I made his acquaintance while we were at dinner in the rough board "eating house" at Webster. He was a tall, slim, muscular man, with a swarthy complexion, dark eyes and a heavy mustache, black as jet from the copious use of dye. He wore high topped boots, with extremely high heels, and his feet were small and delicately shaped. His trousers were of gorgeous plaid material, but the bottoms were worn inside his boot tops. A wide brimmed white slouch hat was cocked rakishly on the side of his head. Some garish jewelry adorned the front of his waistcoat. There was a jaunty air about him which was less pronounced by reason of the stiff and awkward way he carried his arms. I attributed this to the natural effect of driving six spirited horses for years over a mountain road.

He had formerly been a gentleman of fortune, and at one time in his career had amassed a considerable sum of money in the game of chance known as draw poker. When he was at the height of his prosperity, another gentleman of fortune, late of Texas, drifted unostentatiously into camp and caused the report to be circulated that he was aching for a game. Jim undertook to relieve the gentleman of the pain he was suffering on that account, and they met in the back room of Uncle Billy Coleman's Palace of Fashion, on Main street.

There was a slight controversy in the early part of the game, caused by a remark of Jim's to the effect that "people from Texas seemed to have more luck than a Chinaman."

The gentleman from Texas demurred to this and said there was no such thing as luck in draw poker. The chance features of the game, he said, had all been eliminated by the application of skill and science. He then proceeded to demonstrate his assertion, which he did to perfection. At the end of six hours Jim's earthly possessions consisted of the suit of clothes he was wearing. Everything else he had owned in the world had passed into the hands of the skillful and scientific gentleman from Texas.

The Fairplay gambler arose from the table and relieved himself of some choice profanity, most of which was directed against himself. He declared that he was "better qualified to drive a stage than to pose as a gentleman of fortune." The superintendent of the stage line, who was present, jocosely offered Jim a job, and the penniless gambler in a spirit of bravado accepted it and declared then and there that he would never touch the "pasteboards" again as long as he lived.

The gentleman from Texas took his departure as unostentatiously as he had come, but leaving behind him in his room at the hotel a peculiar wire and elastic contrivance which puzzled the brain of the landlord to determine its use. Several persons to whom he exhibited it declared they had never seen anything like it before, but Jim at once recognized it as a contrivance known as a holdout, by means of which a player retained cards in his possession, secreted in his sleeves, which should be in the deck. The phenomenal "hands" held by the gentleman from Texas were no longer a mystery to Jim. He now understood that it was not "Chinaman's luck" that had beaten him, but this little contrivance, worn under the clothing, by the operation of which all elements of chance were eliminated from draw poker and the game reduced to a "dead moral certainty." It was true, as the gentleman from Texas had remarked, that luck cut no figure in the play. It was a question of skill and science.

As Jim was the only person in Fairplay who had anything like an intimate acquaintance with the scientist from Texas, the landlord presented him with the little implement that had worked the former's financial ruin. Jim's first impulse was to secrete the holdout upon his person and seek revenge upon the unsuspecting miners in the gulch, but he remembered that he had hired himself to the stage company and forsworn gambling. He was a man of his word, and a stage driver he became. It was a monotonous life until the road agents began to pay frequent visits to the line, and Jim liked it. The only thing that disturbed his serenity was the recollection of the gentleman from Texas. If he could but once meet that scientist face to face, life would take on new charms for him.

I had a seat beside Jim on the [illegible] ville coach, and as the horses crawled slowly up the grade of Kenosha mountain, preparatory to a wild dash down the other side into the South park, I remarked to him that it was going to be a pleasant night. He replied that you never could tell much about nights in that country until the next day; he had seen nights just as promising as this one turn out real bad before daybreak. The very best of meteorological predictions were likely to fail in a country so thickly infested with gentlemen of the road.

I expressed a desire to have a view of Red hill as we crossed that famous elevation and wondered if the moon would be down before we got there. Jim vouchsafed the information that the moon would be up, but added that he had known of people's appetite for scenery being permanently destroyed by gazing on Red hill by moonlight.

I was sound asleep with my head on Jim's shoulder when he nudged me and said:

"We're going up Red hill now. Help yourself to the scenery, and if you've got any valuables about you you'd better hide them. We're liable to see more things than scenery."

Then the horses came to a sudden stop, and Jim and I were looking down the muzzle of a revolver in the steady hand of a horseman beside the wheelers.

"Will you step down for a moment, driver?" asked the gentleman on horseback.

Jim replied that he was just thinking of getting down, as he was tired of sitting. I followed him and took my place beside him in time to see the other passengers descend one by one from the inside of the coach with their hands above their heads and take a place in line beside us.

There were but two of the road agents. While one of them relieved the passengers of their weapons and all articles of value the other was in the front boat of the stage securing the treasure box.

When the first robber came opposite to Jim, he drew back in surprise, exclaiming, "Well, I'll be hanged!"

For a second only he was off his guard, but that brief space of time was a fatal one. A pistol cracked, and he fell shot through the head.

"Bang, crack!" went two more shots. Both took effect. The second road agent reeled and fell from the boot of the stage, and Jim was lying beside the first robber. It was the big six shooter of the man on the stage that had answered Jim's first shot, and it was the crack of a derringer that had terminated the brief battle.

Jim was wounded in the leg. A young doctor in the party stanched the flow of blood, and we proceeded on our way with the bodies of the two bandits thrown into the hind boat.

The shooting was shrouded in mystery so far as the passengers were concerned. They had seen Jim's six shooter taken from his holster by one of the bandits, after which a careful search had been made to see that he had no other weapon, but when we picked him up a derringer was clasped in either hand. The question was how had he managed to conceal them and bring them into use at such an opportune time? The mystery was solved when his clothing was removed at the hotel in Fairplay. Under his waistcoat was the wire and elastic poker holdout formerly belonging to the gentleman from Texas. The nippers for holding the cards had been removed, and a circular clasp large enough to securely hold the handle of a derringer had been attached in their place. The gentleman to whom the contrivance originally belonged was in the hind boot. His surprise upon recognizing Jim accounted for his presence there.

Jim's leg was broken, and the doctor informed him that when he recovered that leg would be shorter than the other; that he would always limp when he walked.

"It's all my own fault," said Jim.

"I don't see how you can make that out."

"Well, it was this way: When I let the derringers down into my hands, I calculated to shoot the man on the boot with the gun in my right hand an take the nighest feller with my left, but just then I recognized him as the gent I was mostly seekin after, a gent from Texas who skinned me out o' my pile with this yere hold out, an, doc, the temptation was too great. I give it to him with my right, an it took me too long to get a bead on the other one. But, say, doc, this science is a great thing."

Lighting Up In Parliament.

Every part of the house of commons is now lighted by electricity. In Cromwell's time the commons appear to have entertained strong objections to debates by artificial light. A Sir William Widdington brought in two candles against the direction of the house and was sent to the Tower next morning. An interruption to debate was sometimes caused by a motion that candles be brought in. A standing order was passed in 1717 empowering the sergeant-at-arms to bring in candles without any particular order. This order has been superseded by the instantaneous illumination of the house at the proper time, at first by gas and subsequently by electricity.—London Letter.

EARLY MINSTRELSY.

GEORGE CHRISTY, ONE OF THE ORIGINATORS OF THE SHOW.

Interesting Scrapbook Left by the Celebrated Burnt Cork Artist—A Friend of Edwin Forrest and a Talented Comedian. Negro Minstrelsy In Great Britain.

Mrs. Edwina Forrest Fair, a daughter of the famous George Christy, who established negro minstrelsy in New York in 1847, chatted with me the other day very entertainingly regarding her father's career. She gave me his old scrapbook to refer to and several excellent photographs and some old fashioned engravings.

It seems so long since the days of the Christy minstrels that I rather expected to see an older looking woman than George Christy's daughter appears to be. She is an enthusiast over her father's memory. She has another sister living, and also a brother, George Harrington, who, instead of perpetuating the family trademark, has been known chiefly through his "beefsteak dinners" at the old Morgue club.

"My father, known in private life as George N. Harrington, was a young man when he died," said Mrs. Fair. "He was only 40. He had a fine constitution, it was thought, but he wore his heart on his sleeve and put a year into every day. Being jovial, hearty and generous with every one, even his most humble employee, he was persistently sought by well known persons, and his nature could not resist the compliment he felt their companionship to be.

"One of his very particular friends was Edwin Forrest. A few days before I was born my father declared he would name his child for him. 'What if it's a girl?' asked my mother. 'Then we'll call her Edwina,' replied my father. So you see I was named beforehand. Another friend of his, my brother tells me, was Theodore Thomas, who used to black up and do 'nigger business.'

"And why not? Didn't Edwin Booth try it? It was a pity that my father did not live to make a great name as an actor in white, for he was considered a remarkable low comedian. In burlesque he used to sustain from one to half a dozen characters in a piece and exhibit wonderful versatility. He made a great hit with his Topsy in a burletta on 'Uncle Tom's Cabin.' He had a singularly sweet singing voice, and as a dancer he had few equals. He was also a contortionist and seemed blessed with every physical possibility.

"I was 18 years old when I last saw him, and that's a most impressionable age for a girl. I think Billy Birch copied a few of his characteristics, and George Thatcher has given some good imitations of him, but they and such other men as Schoolcraft and Sweetnam are different in general style."

Although I think it is generally understood that the Christy minstrels were the originators of that sort of entertainment, individual negro delineation was done as far back as 1799, at the Federal Street theater, in Boston.

The first idea of minstrelsy in its present shape, or before Mr. Haverly introduced his "Mastodons," came forth in the spring of 1841, for one night only, at the Chatham theater. The company was called the "Virginia minstrels" and was made up by Dan Emmet, Frank Brower, Billy Whitlock and Dick Pelham. The entertainment met with astonishing success. It was repeated subsequently at the Bowery amphitheater and at the Park. Fearing quick opposition here, the company, with G. B. Wooldridge at its head, went to England.

In London it performed for six weeks at the Adelphi in connection with Professor Anderson, then known as "the wizard of the north." A misunderstanding arising, a second company was organized by Pelham and Whitlock in connection with Joe Sweeney, and it traveled through Ireland and Scotland with success.

Another company, called the "Ring and Parker minstrels from Boston," now came along, and while in Liverpool one of the members introduced the character Lucy Long, which became immediately popular.

Simultaneously minstrel companies were being organized in nearly all the American cities, and on the return home of these two organizations they not only found plenty of rivalry, but much improvement on their plan.

Now followed in notable favor the "Kentucky minstrels," the "Congo melodists" and "Buckley's serenaders." Then was organized the famous Christy's, consisting of E. P. Christy, George N. Christy, L. Durand and T. Vaughn.

George, who afterward became the leader and was the joyous spirit of the show, had previously appeared at the old Eagle Street theater, in Buffalo, in 1839, and in 1842 the company started on its existence in the same city in a hall on Water street. George Christy was "bones" and Lansing Durand was "tambo." It is asserted that George was the original Lucy Long, the first to do the "wench business." He also made a hit as Cachuca.

The first appearance of the company in New York was at the Palma Opera House, in Chambers street. After various visits to other localities it finally settled at 472 Broadway, in 1847, where it remained 11 years. George finally withdrew from the care of his foster father, E. P. Christy, and with Harry Wood opened another hall at 444 Broadway, and a year later the original party went to California, and George became master of the situation.

After several years of great success Messrs. Wood and Christy opened the Fifth Avenue Opera House, in Twenty-fourth street. Christy's last appearance on the stage was with Hooley's minstrels, in Brooklyn, on May 2, 1867. He died on May 12 at his home and was buried from Trinity chapel three days later. His body is in Cypress Hills cemetery.—New York Herald.

The morning session was occupied in the consideration of claims against the county.

Supervisor Gray as road commissioner was allowed for Healdsburg road district $75.40; Cloverdale, $249.41; E. W. Hayden, Forestville, $183.50. The sum of $43.35 was transferred from Forestville road district to Russian River road district. The afternoon session was occupied in the allowance of the Indigent fund for the month of June.

WEDNESDAY, June 5th.

The Board met at 9 o'clock A. M., pursuant to adjournment, all the members being present.

The following warrants were ordered cancelled: J. M. Knightson, indigent, $24; E Kit, $3; O. E. Michalson, rebate, 28 cents; O'Connell & Keefe, $1; A. W. Lagna, 60 cents.

On motion $43.35 was ordered transferred from the Forestville road district fund to the Russian River road district fund to help pay for the repairing of the lower Mark West bridge, which cost $86.70.

THURSDAY, June 6th.

The Board met at 9 o'clock, and proceeded with the consideration of bids for furnishing the county hospital with groceries for the quarter ending September 30, 1895, which were awarded as follows:

J. W. Seegelken & Co.—Santa Rosa flour, cube sugar, Liverpool salt, rolled oats.

E. A. Wilson—Coffee, bayo beans, small white laundry soap, extra C sugar, granulated sugar, California syrup, cracked wheat, extra soda crackers, plain crackers, rice, dairy butter.

Grace Brothers—Salmon, potatoes and packed butter.

The Board then granted a hearing to the petitioners in the matter of J. Patchett et al. for a new road and changes in the present one from Black Point to intersect the Skagg's Springs road, which involves the building of nearly seven miles of new road and the alteration and improvement of seven miles of the present one, altogether some fifteen miles. The proposed change will benefit some twenty families, who at the present time have only private roadways to depend upon. A number of witnesses were called and examined as to the proposed changes and benefits to be derived, among whom were the following: A. J. Patchett, G. N. Hicks, Hans Petersen, P. O'Brien, W. H. Flournoy and John Clark. After considerable discussion and deliberation, the following resolution was passed:

"In the matter of petition of J. A. Patchett et al. for a new road over the lands of the Gualala Mill Company, on motion of Supervisor Joost the report of viewers of the proposed road was adopted and approved, and that when the petitioners for such road have secured free of charge to the county deeds of the right of way for said road throughout its entire length, and have constructed said road at their own expense, the said road shall be declared by proper order made and entered by this Board, a public highway.

The bill of P. H. Thompson as road commissioner for Stewart's Point district for $449.70 was allowed.

The clerk was ordered to advertise for bids for the repairs for the Cloverdale bridge over Russian river.

The reports of J. Anderson, Lem Bledsoe, J. M. Cheney, G. B. Baer and Fred. Connor, justices of the peace; L. W. Ridenhour and C. F. Carmer, pound masters; M. M. Shearer, county physician; E. F. Woodward, county treasurer; A. J. Atchinson, county auditor, were approved and accepted.

The sum of $8,500 was ordered transferred from the county general fund to the county school fund.

At 5 o'clock the Board adjourned to meet at the call of the chair to visit the county hospital.

MENDELSSOHN'S CONCERT. — The solo attraction of the evening, of course, was Mr. Mollenhauer, the violinist, and a true son of his father. Mr. Mollenhauer's easy grasp of string difficulties, his broad, pure tone, original but true phrasing and sparkling color, make him one of the best as well as the most popular violinists of the present.—St. Paul and Minneapolis Pioneer Press.

By his accuracy, delicacy and beauty of playing, Mollenhauer surprised his hearers. No gymnastics, no trickery, but in their place were evidence of careful study, practice and genius.—Herald.

Like a Sieve.

The chief function of the kidneys is to separate from the blood, in its passage through them, of certain impurities and watery particles which make their final exit through the bladder. The retention of these, in consequence of inactivity of the kidneys, is productive of Bright's disease, dropsy, Diabetes, albuminuria and other maladies with a fatal tendency. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a highly sanctioned diuretic and blood depurent, impels the kidneys when inactive to renew their sifting function, and strain from the vital current impurities which infest it and threaten their own existence as organs of the body. Catarrh of the bladder, gravel and retention of the urine are also maladies arrested or averted by this benign promoter and restorative of organic action. Malaria, rheumatism, constipation, biliousness and dyspepsia also yield to the Bitters, which is also speedily beneficial to the weak and nervous.

Heart Palpitation

Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla

"I had what is called palpitation of the heart; it never left me for a moment. Sometimes I would almost fall over, and Could Not Stay in a Close Room or a crowd of people. Physicians did not do me any good; in fact, I seemed to be growing worse all the time until I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was soon better, and after taking 3 bottles, I was perfectly cured. My wife is taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for rheumatism, and it is doing her more good than all other medicine she has ever taken. She has been prostrated by rheumatism frequently for seven years, and the past year has been so that she could not turn over in bed without help. Now she can get around and do her work." J. P. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

SONOMA, JUNE 15, 1895.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER.

Our Band.

That we should be able to hear such great musicians as Bernhard Mollenhauer, the violinist, and James Hamilton Howe, the pianist, right here in Sonoma and listen to a programme of band music far out of the reach of the average amateur musician, performed entirely by residents of this valley, not only speaks volumns for the musical talent and energetic ambition of the Band but will swell the bosom of every patriotic resident of the valley with pride and satisfaction. The band is succeeding in a meritorious effort to place the very best music before the people of the valley, and the fact that the band always plays to crowded houses is good evidence of the high musical standpoint which the band has reached. That the members are in earnest may be gathered from the fact that in the last eight years about $4,000 has passed through the hands of the business manager for the purchase of band property and payment of running expenses, all of which has been paid by the band excepting about sixty dollars raised by subscription several years ago to help purchase uniforms. It is only fair to our citizens, however, to state that with the exception of that one subscription list the band has never asked favors of the public in any way. Such enterprise as the band has displayed is deserving of hearty and substantial support, and every resident of the valley should turn out at the coming concert and crowd Union Hall to its utmost capacity.

Bicycle Notes.

There will be a special meeting of the Sonoma Bicycle Club to-morrow at 71 A. M.

Bloomers do not appear to be popular with the lady bicyclists of Santa Rosa, who ride their wheels and simper in ordinary clothes.

An assessment of $1.00 has been levied on each member of the Sonoma Bicycle Club for the purpose of raising funds to complete the race track around the Sonoma Plaza.

Ye editor rode his "bike" from Santa Rosa to Sonoma, a distance of twenty-two miles, in three hours on Saturday evening last. The night being quite dark he took no less than a dozen "headers" on his journey and when he reached home he was a sight to behold.

Chris. Sorenson of San Francisco, an honorary member of the Sonoma Bicycle Club, rode 200 miles on his wheel last Sunday in less than fifteen hours. The first hundred miles was made in five hours and 58 minutes, breaking the Pacific Coast record 23 minutes.

It is claimed by our Glen Ellen correspondent that T. Dowdell, a local wheelman of that town, took a "flyer" to this city in twenty minutes. As the distance covered was between seven and eight miles over a road that is mighty rough in places this new candidate for wheelmans' honors must indeed be a marvel.

Glen Ellen Squibs.

Geo. W. Clark and James H. Albertson of Sonoma were in town Monday.

A reporter of the Santa Rosa Republican was in town a few days this week.

The Native Sons will meet here next Saturday evening when new officers will be elected.

Companies C and G, N. G. C., will camp here for a few days this month. No definite time for their arrival has as yet been set.

T. Dowdell, an expert bicyclist of this place, made a run to Sonoma on his wheel last Tuesday and covered the distance in twenty minutes.

Two hundred people attended the opening of the new Congregational Church last Sunday. Voluntary subscriptions amounting to $150 were received from those present.

The entertainment to be given by Dr. and Mrs. C. C. O'Donnell in aid of our new church on Saturday evening, June 15th, promises to be well attended. Sonoma talent will appear before the footlights.

The contest for School Trustee in this place was a lively tilt between M. F. Turley and Judge Zane. The Judge was too many for Mike, however, and got away with the persimmon.

REMINGTON.

Glen Ellen, June 13th, 1895.

Fire.

A house belonging to S. Schocken and located near the basalt block quarries one mile north of town was destroyed by fire Tuesday afternoon about 4 o'clock. The house was occupied by a demented quarryman named Johnson, who is supposed to have set fire to the building. One hundred and fifty dollars will cover the loss.

WM. CARRIGER WILL CASE.

The Widow Breaks the Will and Wins Her Suit—An Appeal to be Taken.

On Thursday last the jury in the Carriger will case brought in a verdict in favor of Mrs. Kate Carriger and against the heirs named in the late Wm. Carriger's will.

The case was bitterly contested on both sides, and has been before the courts the past two or three years. The property involved is worth less than $10,000, and should the contestant finally secure the same it will take most of it to pay her attorneys and other costs attached to the suit.

The Carriger heirs will take an appeal to the Supreme Court.

Drowned in Sonoma Creek.

Frederick Moar, a twelve-year-old lad, was drowned last Saturday while bathing in Sonoma Creek. The deceased, who could not swim, went in bathing with another boy about his own age, and getting beyond his depth sank out of sight with a despairing cry. The drowning was witnessed by another lad and a little girl sitting on the bank of the creek. The body was recovered shortly after by Chas. Fredericks and Alf. Monobi, farm hands employed on Dr. C. C. O'Donnell's place, but life was extinct.

Judge Cheney of this place went up to Glen Ellen on Monday night and as acting Coroner held an inquest on the remains of the drowned boy. He empanelled the following as jurors: M. F. Turley, J. M. Hendley, H. R. Martens, Frank Rovai, N. R. Hansen and W. Sobbe. After the testimony was all in they rendered a verdict of accidental drowing. The deceased was a native of San Francisco and at the time he met his death was visiting Dr. and Mrs. O'Donnell.

Chas. Dal Pogetto's Condition.

Chas. Dal Pogetto of this place, who was operated upon three weeks ago in St. Mary's Hospital by several skilled surgeons who removed the veriform appendex, a little sack in the bowels, and who was in a fair way to speedy recovery eight or ten days after the operation was performed has received a backset. Up to last Sunday he was progressing finely and had been able to be up and around for several days, but on that day he commenced to complain and an examination revealed the presence of a quantity of pus in the region of the bowels. The surgeon's knife was again called into requisition and the pus removed, which greatly relieved him. If blood poisoning does not set in the surgeons say he will recover and be as strong and healthy as ever.

Auction Sale of Horses.

Twenty-three blooded horses and mares belonging to the estate of the late Kate Johnson will be sold at auction on Saturday, June 29th. The sale will be held at Buena Vista, one mile east of Sonoma, and will commence at 12:30 o'clock. This sale will afford people who are looking for bargains in horse flesh to secure some of the finest roadsters and trotters in the State at small cost. The sale will be conducted by H. J. Leutholtz of the Indiana Auction Company, San Francisco, who will make it pleasant for all who attend. This sale is ordered by the executors of the estate and the animals will be sold without reserve or limit in order to close up the affairs of the vast estate.

The Official Organ,

The Board of Directors of the Home for Feeble-Minded Children at a recent meeting selected the INDEX-TRIBUNE as their official organ in which to advertise for supplies, etc. In another column will be found a call for proposals to furnish supplies to the institution for one year. Merchants and dealers in produce who desire to compete should read the adv and send their bids to Dr. A. E. Osborne, Secretary of the Board and Superintendent of the Home. The bids will be opened July 3d at 12 M.

Runaway Accident.

Miss Olive Williams, a guest of Capt. and Mrs. H. E. Boyes, was thrown from a cart last Monday and severely injured about the face and body. The accident occurred near Agua Rica and was caused by the horse shying at some object in the road. Under the care of Dr. Davis the young lady is rapidly recovering from her injuries.

School Entertainment.

The scholars of the Grammar School will give an entertainment at Union Hall on Friday evening, June 21st. The principal feature of the evening's entertainment will be the production of a laughable farce entitled "A Country School." A tamborine drill will also be introduced. Admission, 10 cents for adults; children, free.

THE FOURTH IN SONOMA.

Preparations Being Made to Provide for a Large Number of People.

The celebration on the Fourth promises to attract a large crowd of people to Sonoma on that day. The committee having the affair in hand in anticipation of this event are preparing to receive and make it as pleasant as possible for those who come here to join in with our citizens in commemorating our natal day.

A twenty-foot arbor of evergreens will be erected around the Pavilion, which will afford a cool and shady retreat for hundreds of people. The interior of that edifice and the Plaza grounds will also be made cool and inviting. Tanks containing ice water, one of them having a capacity of 1500 gallons, will be provided for the use of the thirsty. The parade, bicycle racing, turning and other athletic amusements will be participated in by almost every resident in this city. The programme of literary exercises, which will be held in the pavilion, will be as follows: Music, Sonoma Valley Band; address, Hon. R. A. Poppe, President of the Day; oration, Hon. J. C. Sims; music, Band; reading Declaration of Independence, Dr. H. H. Davis; reading of poem, Miss Clara Cheney; song, "Star Spangled Banner." After the above exercises have been carried out, which will be preceded by the parade, there will be dancing inside the Pavilion and various amusements on the outside. The day's festivities will wind up with a display of fireworks and a ball in the evening.

High School Trustees.

Hon. Robert Howe and Fred. T. Duhring, two of Sonoma's most wealthy and prominent citizens, were elected Trustees of the Sonoma Valley Union High School at the election held on Friday of last week. The other districts failed to put candidates in the field and in consequence Superintendent of Schools Davis will have to appoint Trustees to represent those districts on the Board. According to the classification under the law Mr. Duhring will hold office for three years, Mr. Howe for two years and the Trustees to be appointed will serve from one to three years. We congratulate the people of Sonoma Valley on their good luck in securing Messrs. Howe and Duhring to preside over the destinies of our High School, both of whom are representative men in every sense of the word. Under their management we predict a great future for Sonoma Valley's principal educational institute.

The Plaza.

Under the supervision of Trustee J. E. Poppe the Plaza is assuming a holiday appearance. The dry grass is being removed and the walks improved. It is the intention of Mr. Poppe to have blue grass, shrubs and flowers planted out, to the end that our Plaza may be an attraction to the town and serve as a promenade and resting place for visitors. When he shall have accomplished this his name will be handed down to posterity as the man who made for Sonoma a park as it should be.

District School Trustee Election.

At the election for School Trustees held in the various districts on Friday of last week the following were selected:

Sonoma—G. S. Harris.
San Luis—H. Rubke.
Agua Caliente—Ed. Steiger and J. Burns.
Glen Ellen—J. M. Zane.
Watmaugh—Mrs. C. C. Champlin and E. H. Wickersham.

Agua Caliente Springs.

It is the intention of Dr. and Mrs. Nordin to open their new summer resort at Agua Caliente on or about July 1st, when the public will have an opportunity to inspect the many handsome improvements made in and around this fine establishment.

SONOMA INDEX - TRIBUNE.

SONOMA, SATURDAY, JUNE 15, 1895.

SHE WAS A WOMAN.

And For This Reason There Was No Occasion For Surprise.

The sun beat down that blistering afternoon on the little adobe cabin just beyond the arroyo, and on the far side in the shade sat two sweltering cow punchers with a pack of cards between them. It was too hot for even this mild exercise, but it served to keep their minds off the weather, and they played lazily along. At last one of them threw his cards down.

"By gravy, Bill," he exclaimed, "I can't play any more."

"What's the matter?" inquired Bill.

"Too hot for you?"

"No. 'Tain't that, though the Lord knows it's most hot enough for anything. It's that little girl down there at old Slocum's."

"What's she got to do with the game?" asked Bill in surprise.

"Nothing much, I guess, but a good deal with me."

"How?" and Bill picked up the pack and began shuffling the cards aimlessly.

"Oh, I don't know."

"Stuck on her?" inquired Bill, with a laugh, which struck his companion as rather harsh.

"Not exactly, I guess."

"She's the purtiest thing in this valley," said Bill admiringly.

"I know it," admitted the other. "I was down there last night, and she was sweeter than ever."

"Well," impatiently, "what are you going to do about it?"

"What would you advise?"

"That depends on what kind of advice you want."

"I was thinking about marrying her."

Bill gave a long whistle and stopped shuffling the cards.

"What, marry a half breed, and you having the kind of folks you have back in the east?" he said seriously.

"I don't see how I can get out of it honorably," he reluctantly confessed. "I've been going down there to see her for six months now, and she has been kind of expecting me to come. I didn't think much about it at first, but now blame me if I don't think about her pretty much all the time. The last four or five times I've been to see her she showed me straight that she thought a lot of me, and last night she told me everything, and said if I left her her heart would break and she would drown herself in the river. I can't stand that, you know, and besides I'd rather marry her myself than have anybody else marry her."

"She'll git old man Slocum's property when he goes over the divide," said Bill thoughtfully, "and that 's worth a pile."

"Yes, but I don't care for that. It's the girl and my own honorable action in the matter."

They talked until the sun had sunk behind the mountain, and by that time it was decided that Bill would go with his friend Joe and settle the business with the girl's father, old man Slocum. Early the next morning they set out, and before the sun had reached the hot place in the heavens they were at Slocum's.

"Where's Meg?" asked Joe, after they had passed the compliments of the morning.

"Oh, she's skipped," answered Slocum, with a laugh.

"Skipped?" gasped Joe.

"Yes. Skipped some time in the night with Pete Smiley, and she needn't 'a' done it, fer Pete was agreeable to me," and he laughed again.

Joe felt something rise in his throat and drop back again like a piece of lead. Bill looked at him curiously.

"Gals will be gals," said Bill, turning to Slocum, "but what we come down here to see you about, Mr. Slocum, is cattle," and he carried it through nobly.—Detroit Free Press.

Westminster, Cal., March 21, 1894.—Some time ago, on awkening one morning, I found that I had rheumatism in my knee so badly that, as I remarked to my wife, it would be impossible for me to attend to business that day. Remembering that I had some of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in my store I sent for a bottle, and rubbed the afflicted parts thoroughly with it, according to directions, and within an hour I was completely relieved. One application had done the business. It is the best liniment on the market and I sell it under a positive guarantee. R. T. HARRIS. For sale by all dealers.

Not a Fighter.

Two old negroes, one of whom wore a Grand Army of the Republic uniform, while the other was attired in the conventional black Prince Albert coat which is ever part and parcel of the colored "pahson," met on the corner of Ninth and Walnut streets. Both were waiting for a car. The wait turned out to be a long one, and the men, though evidently strangers, began chatting pleasantly on the condition of the weather and other stock subjects.

Finally the "pahson," with a comprehensive glance over the uniform which the other wore, asked:

"Was yo' in the wah, sah?"

"Yessah; 'deed I wuz. 'Deed I'ze in de wah."

"Den yo' had a taste of de late unpleasantness?"

"Yas; co'se I did. Fact is, pahson, I had mo' dan a taste. I done went and bit off mo' dan I cud chaw up fine."

"Did yo' run when dey commence shooting?" asked the "pahson" suspiciously.

"Dat I did, sah—dat I did—an I'd a-run befo' ef I'd knowed it wuz comin."

"Den yo' isn't much on fightin?" queried the expounder of the gospel.

"No, sah; I'zo not. I'll leab dat for people what ain't got nuffin else to do. Cookin is my perfeshun." And just then the car came.—Kansas City Times.

Lost the Prize.

The late James Crossley, a noted bibliomaniac, hied him one memorable day to a bookstall in Shudehill market, and spying a little volume took it up and glanced carelessly through it. After awhile he asked its price from an old woman and was told it was two and sixpence. "I'll give you sixpence for it," said Crossley. "Nay," replied the poor old dame, "it cost me 2 shillings." Whereupon our book devourer threw it down in disgust and retired. A gentleman, overhearing the altercation, stepped forward and purchased it at the sum demanded. Crossley returned soon after, and noticing the book had gone anxiously inquired what had become of it. "Sold," answered the woman, "for what you refused to give." "Tell me who bought it and I'll give him 10 shillings for it!" said Crossley eagerly. The moral is self evident.—Exchange.

SPRINGFIELD, MO.

MESSRS. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga.

GENTLEMEN:—Last June I had a scrofula sore to break out on my ankle. It grew rapidly and soon extended from my foot to knee. I got one bottle of your P. P. P. and was agreeably surprised at the result. The entire sore healed at once. I think I have taken nearly every medicine recommended for scrofula and catarrh, and your P. P. P. is the best I ever tried. It cannot be recommended too highly for blood poison, etc.

Yours truly, W. P. HUNTER.

The hearing of the case of Edward B. Barron, the colored boy, asking for a share of Edward Barron's estate, will be commenced at San Jose July 1st.

DYSPEPSIA.

E. W. JOY COMPANY—Gentlemen: I have taken your Vegetable Sarsaparilla and can say I have never seen anything equal to it. I have suffered ten years with dyspepsia, not being able to eat anything but milk and brown bread. Life was nothing but misery for me.

Now I have a good appetite, can eat anything I wish and feel no disagreeable effects from it. I wish I could tell all dyspeptics and urge them to try your Vegetable Sarsaparilla.

Signed. MR. JOHN TIMOTHY,
Forbestown, Cal.

If you want to get a spring medicine without a blotch, an old sarsaparilla trade mark, a big patch of red pimples, take Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

E. W. JOY COMPANY—Gentlemen: I have suffered from a nervous prostration from financial losses. Can say Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla has cured me. My liver, stomach and bowels have been very inactive but since taking your remedy I am entirely well. All business men and women should use it. Please publish.

Signed. MR. WM. HENRY JONES,

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 14th, 1893.
—I can speak in the highest terms of your medicine from my own personal knowledge. I was affected with heart disease, pleurisy and rheumatism for 35 years, was treated by the very best physicians and spent hundreds of dollars, tried every known remedy without finding relief. I have only taken one bottle of your P. P. P., and can cheerfully say it has done me more good than anything I have ever taken. I can recommend your medicine to all sufferers of the above diseases.

Skin Cancer Cured.

Testimony from the Mayor of Sequin, Tex.

SEQUIN, TEX., January 14, 1893.
MESSRS. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga.: Gentlemen—I have tried your P. P. P. for a disease of the skin, usually known as skin cancer, of thirty years' standing, and found great relief; it purifies the blood and removes all irritation from the seat of the disease and prevents any spreading of the sores. I have taken five or six bottles and feel confident that another course will effect a cure. It has also relieved me from indigestion and stomach troubles. Yours truly,
CAPT. W. M. RUST,
Attorney at Law.
